NO PLACE CALLED HOME

Falling in love with one of the refugees was never part of Schultz's plan, but an Iraqi man named Omar changed all that. No Place Called Home is that unexpected story—a true story about an American woman and an Iraqi man, a story about one refugee out of 4 million, a story that isn't supposed to be a love story.

"As a refugee myself, I gave up the fact that no one can hold the complexity of this crisis, it's so complicated and different. Yet, I was wrong. I was captured from the first word until the end!"

- Ibrahim, resettled Iraqi refugee after seeing No Placed Called Home.
